Seven Ag. Experts from M. U. to Be Here for Farmers' Short Course

Tentative Program Announced For Farmers' Week Here At The College Feb. 28 To March 2—Poultry, Dairying, Livestock and Soils To Be Discussed During Four-Day Session.

Four days of interesting agricultural discussions are being planned for the Farmers' Week, the agriculture short course, to be held at the College here Feb. 28 to March 2 under the auspices of the College agriculture department and with the co-operation of the Agriculture Extension department of the University of Missouri. Seven experts in various phases of farming will be here to lecture and to lead discussions on these days, according to Mr. Kinnaird, head of the agricultural department.

A definite phase of farming will be taken up each day. Tuesday, February 28 will be poultry day and the programs will be in charge of Burley Winton and Dr. A. J. Durant of the University. Poultry production, feeding and caring for flocks will be taken up by these men.

Wednesday will be Dairy Day. Professor M. J. Ragen of the University and Mr. Kinnaird of the College will conduct the discussions these days. It is probable that the College herd of Jerseys will be inspected and an explanation made of the methods used here in building up such a herd.

Thursday, March 1 will be Livestock Day. The programs that day will be under the direction of Professor L. A. Weaver and Professor J. W. Burch of the University.

Friday will be Soils and Crops Day. Professor C. A. Helm of the University will talk on, "The Production of Alfalfa," and Professor M. F. Miller, also of the University, will discuss, "The Use of Legumes To Maintain Soil Fertility." In the afternoon Mr. Helm will talk on, "Seeding and Cultivating Practices in Northwest Missouri," and Mr. Miller will discuss, "Erosion and Its Control."

The morning programs will start at 9:41 and the afternoon sessions at 1 o'clock. Those in charge of the short course have announced that the afternoon programs will be adjourned at 3:30.

All farmers and others interested in farming in Northwest Missouri are invited to attend these sessions. A special invitation has been extended to agriculture students and teachers in the high schools of Northwest Missouri.

Efforts were made to arrange for some home economics speakers from the University but it was impossible to secure any at this time. However, the farm women are cordially invited, especially on the days when poultry and dairying will be discussed.

Ross Fleetwood, Nodaway County farm agent, is co-operating with Mr. Kinnaird in planning for this Short Course.

College High-Alumni Have Party Saturday

The alumni of the College High School met at social hall at 8 o'clock Saturday night for their first social meeting since the annual banquet last May.

Progressive rook and a visiting hour furnished entertainment for an informal and much enjoyed evening. As the evening neared its close, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Hazel Carr and Dossie McElvain.

Many of the members were kept away by distance or bad roads. Those present were: Miss Margaret Franken, sponsor; Thelma Tompkins, Dossie McElvain, Trippett; Mrs. Bula Cockayne, Mrs. Ruth Robb, Pickering; Pauline Hall, Wileox; Lois May Dakan, Skidmore; Hazel Carr, Mary Pistole, Pickering; Robert Ruhl, Russel Ruhl, Milan Shell, Wileox; Charlie Carr, Thomas Lawrence, Paul Shonley, and David Bolt.

Students Examined at Hospital Clinic

A free clinic for the treatment of kidney disease, at which several College students were examined, was held at the St. Francis Hospital Friday, February 10. Dr. Clinton B. Smith, Specialist of Kansas City was in charge of the examinations. All cases of disease of the kidneys or bladder were treated and advice was given to the patients.

The city physicians were present and they made it possible for many of the patients to be treated by Dr. Smith.

Twelve students of the College were examined and advised, and Dr. Green, college physician, was present at these examinations. He stated that it was a fine thing and that much credit was due the County Medical Association for bringing Mr. Smith to this city.

Historical Gowns Shown by Kappa Phi; Tapestries Coming

An interesting historical fashion show was given at Assembly Wednesday, sponsored by the Kappa Omicron Phi.

The costumes were sent here by the Cheney Company of New York City, and are exact reproductions of originals. The first one, Merveilleuse of the nineteenth century was worn by Viola Cox. The second, Empress Josephine of the eighteenth century was worn by Pauline Andrews. The third was Italian Renaissance of the sixteenth century worn by Lola Tillet. The fourth a Queen Elizabeth gown, was worn by Hazel Sullivan, and the fifth, a Mme de Pompadour of the eighteenth century was worn by Georgia Ellen Trusty. Mr. Holdridge furnished the music during the display.

Following the fashion show Katherine Mills gave an interesting talk on our modern poetry. The latter part of the program was in charge of Dean Johnson, president of the student body, who, after giving a short talk, introduced Martin Lewis, Jr. representing the townpeople and former students. In his talk Mr. Lewis made a direct appeal to the student body to co-operate with the townpeople in supporting the Bearcats Friday and Saturday nights when they battle the Bulldogs of Kirksville.

Mr. Lewis is an enthusiastic supporter of the Bearcats, and in the twenty years he spoke he instilled into the students of the S. T. C. some of that enthusiasm. This was shown by the talk which followed given voluntarily by the following people: Russell McCay, Homer Richmond, Homer Ogden, and Rosella Froman.

The program was continued with a few words from Coach Lawrence who told the students about the kind of pep which appealed to the subconscious mind, spurring the fighting Bearcats on to victory.

In closing a few yells were given, led by Fred King. Every student left the assembly hall plodding themselves to come out Friday and Saturday night and put all they had in support of the Bearcats.

Swimming Teams Select Captains

The class teams elected their swimming captains Monday afternoon. Margaret Quinlan was elected captain of the seniors; Virginia Dean, captain of the juniors; Kathleen Jones, captain of the sophomores; and Eleanor Montgomery, captain of the freshmen. Last year the Sophomores placed first in the meet and the Seniors were second.

Only two of last year's Varsity team in swimming are in school this year. They are Virginia Dean and Margaret Quinlan. Five players and three substitutes are chosen on a team.

The longest plunge so far has been 14 yards. The seniors are the best in the plunge and the sophomores need some one for this event. There have been twenty report for practice. They are: seniors: Putnam, Doobling, Seal, Brandt, Quinlan; juniors, Dean and England; sophomores, Jones, Curnutt, S. Davis, Pistole, Greer, Westfall and Chandler; freshmen, Montgomery, Kee, Dawson, and Andrews.

Robert Westfall is the only sophomore in school this year who was a member of last year's freshman team.

Thelma Stevenson who has been ill with an appendicitis attack is back in school. She did not have to undergo an operation.

John Gurfman, Morris Chick, Raymond Pugh, George McMurry and Charles Stanfield were in Kansas City Sunday and Monday of last week. They attended the Automobile Show Monday afternoon.

Dulcy's Coming; Will Be Here on Thursday Night

Annual Production of Dramatic Club, a Clover three-act Comedy, Is Ready For Presentation—Tickets Available Wednesday.

"Who stole the pearls?"
"Did you ask Dulcy?"
"And who is Dulcy?"

For the benefit of those who don't already know, Dulcy is a bride. Not only that she is the heroine—or the leading character at least—in the amusing three-act comedy to be given at the College Thursday night of this week by the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Criswell.

Like all brand new brides Dulcy is anxious to be helpful to her husband. And she wants to be friendly to her friends. So she plans a week-end party at her home near New York. She invites a group of friends. And such friends. They are an ill-assorted group such as only Dulcy could get together. Their brief association becomes an unbroken series of hilarious tragedies. Poor Dulcy! It is her final blunder which unexpectedly crowns all her mis taken efforts with success.

If Dulcy doesn't amuse you, you had better see Dr. Green for there is surely something wrong with your liver.

Dulcy, likable and charming, is portrayed by Helen Fouts. An illustrious array of footlight stars of the College is in the supporting cast. Rehearsals have been going well and the dress rehearsal Wednesday night will add the finishing touches for public presentation.

The Cast of Characters

The following is the cast for the play:

The College orchestra under the direction of Mr. Hickernell will furnish the music. The play is scheduled to open in the auditorium at 8:15.

The general admission will be 50¢. As announced in Assembly, students will be admitted by presenting 25¢ and a minor coupon or two minor coupons. Miss Criswell announced that a table will be in the hall Wednesday and Thursday and all students must get their coupons exchanged on these days. Reserved seats will go on sale at Kuehs Bros., Wednesday.

Better get your tickets early.

Tri Sigs Give Tea; Tea-Dance Next Week

The Wednesday afternoon tea was sponsored by the Sigma Sigma Sigmans this week. Piano solos were played by Virginia Brown and Grace Gallatin, and Pauline Walker sang a solo. Viola music was played the rest of the time. The guests viewed the historical dresses displayed in social hall.

Iola Miller and Georgia Ellen Trusty poured the tea and Mere Williams and Ilene Wethered poured the next hour.

The tea next week will be given by the girl's pep squad and music will be furnished for dancing at the same time.

Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Emmett Scott were visitor last week.

Dance-Loving Students Are "Embarrassed" --All Because of the Excess Altitude of the Librarian

Isn't it awful because some people are so tall?

Now take Mr. Wells, for example. Just the other day he happened to look over a shelf of books and saw four people slipping cautiously out of the library and creeping cautiously up the back steps which lead to the auditorium.

A few of the students have enjoyed dancing on the auditorium stage between classes, and, as a result, the front door has been kept locked. Nevertheless these students decided to try the back way.

Grad. of S.T.C. Urges 8 Legal Code Revisions

L. L. Livengood, Maryville Attorney, Tells of Needed Changes In Legal Procedure in Talk To Pi Gamma Mu.

There are eight needed revisions in law and reforms of legal procedure, L. L. Livengood, S. T. C. graduate and former superintendent of schools at Elmo, Missouri, told the members of the Social Science club and the Pi Gamma Mu at their joint meeting, Wednesday night. Mr. Livengood is now an attorney in Maryville.

The revisions urged by Mr. Livengood are: 1. Need of still further simplification in code procedure; 2. Modernizing of our legal procedure to fit our advanced civilization; 3. Speedy trials in both civil and criminal cases; 4. Still further reform in criminal procedure in challenges to the jury and change of venue; 5. Fewer and better paid paid legislators; 6. Establishment of a court of lesser jurisdiction and ease of appeal abolished; 7. Greater interest on the part of our public in our court system and our legal procedure, and 8. Character test for our lawyers as well as those of other professions.

Mr. Livengood began his address by stating that human progress was law and that it was a science that affected all mankind. He said that primitive man had laws and that violations were wrong and the law punished the wrongs. Wrongs were of two kinds, public and private. A private wrong could also be a public wrong as it might affect society as a whole.

The speaker pointed out that there were two kinds of law, substantive and adjective. The substantive law states what the laws are while the adjective law gave the remedy for any violation of the law so stated. The Roman law is the basis of all of the laws which are now in existence. Next to this is the English common law based on customs and practices of the country. This law has spread to the United States but has become cumbersome, Mr. Livengood stated.

Aspirants trying for the different track and field events are as follows; two mile, R. Smith; mile, Donaldson, Hall and Smith; half mile, King, Donaldson, and Moore; quarter mile, Hollar, Mast, Daniels, King, Scott, Culp, and Smith; one-hundred and two-twenty yard dash, Braun, King, Culp, Scott, Daniels, Smith and Max; low and high hurdles, Hall, Todd, King, Daniels, Culp and Smith; shot put, Moore and Hollar; discus, Moore and Hollar; pole vault, Hollar and Pugh; broad jump, Smith and Daniels; high jump, Smith and Hall; javelin, Search, Moore and Hollar.

The following men are out but are not trying for any certain event; Elam, Crane, Griggs, Mountjoy, Malotte, Tilley, Swinford, Westfall, and Pettigrew. Cecil Smith will participate in the K. C. A. C. indoor meet which is held in Kansas City Saturday February 18. He is entered in the fifty yard dash and the fifty yard low hurdles. Smith is one of the fastest men that Northwest Missouri has ever turned out, and he is expected to win many points in the M. I. A. A. this year.

Lloyd Hollar, this year's captain and an all-around man in the field events, is entering upon his fourth and last year on the track team and is expected to win many points in these events. At the beginning of the spring quarter a call will be put out for varsity candidates. Lawrence and Davis urge that every one who has ever had any track work or any one who thinks he would like to try for the Varsity come out. All candidates will be issued necessary equipment.

Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Emmett Scott were visitor last week.

Kirksville "Jinx" Broken 38 to 16, But Bearcats Lose Opener

Green and Black Quintet Ruthlessly Trounce M. I. A. A. Leaders In Last Home Conference Game But Lose To Them Friday Night 14 to 20—Harris Stars in Both Games.

The Kirksville "jinx" has been broken. In fact, it has been "busted" all to smithereens and it is doubtful if all the king's men can put it together again."

The formal process of decapitating and dissecting this jinx took place Saturday night in the College gym when the Bearcats gloriously wound up their home conference season by ruthlessly trouncing the M. I. A. A. leaders, the Kirksville Teachers, 38 to 16. Not once were the Bulldogs in the lead and never did they tie the Bearcats or even come close after the first five minutes of the game.

If the Bearcats were ruthless and taunting to their Northwest Missouri enemies Saturday night it was because of the pronounced reaction following their 20 to 14 defeat by the Bulldogs the night before. If the Bearcats are to be reprimanded at all it would be because of their generous 50-50 policy of giving the first of every two-game series in the conference away. They have beaten every team in the conference and suffered defeat at the hands of every team. Consequently their four defeats have put them out of the running for the championship flag unless Springfield or Kirksville unexpectedly "break a leg" in their remaining games, one at Kirksville and one at Warrensburg. Their only remaining home game is with the St. Joseph Hillyards, national champions last year.

Toied With the Bulldogs

After a few moments of play in Saturday night's game the inevitable outcome became increasingly apparent. It was a vastly different Bearcat team than the one seen in action Friday night. Throughout the game they played "circles" around the visitors and toyed with the ruffled tempers of the Bulldogs during most of the second half.

Harris again came in for the lion's share of honors but was brilliantly supported by his teammates, Burke, and especially Ungles, played as smooth a game as any time this season. Hedges made two sensational shots from the center zone and performed brilliantly considering the intensive guarding imposed on him by the Bulldogs. Iba and Ferguson performed admirably and McKee showed plenty of fight while he was in.

Flashing over the court like a slippery shadow Ungles slipped in and tallied the first two points of the game. In a short time Hedges heaved a beautiful shot for two more and the Bulldogs tallied from the field in rapid succession, making the score 12 to 1. While the Bearcats were looking at the scoreboard and swearing under their breath, the visitors took a spurt and L. Craig, Bigsby, and Milstead counted, bringing their score up to 7, the closest they ever came to the fierce-fighting Bearcats.

Then came the first Kirksville counter when O. Craig tallied a point after a foul. But this failed to precipitate a scoring spree for the Bulldogs for Hedges, Ungles, and Harris tallied from the field in rapid succession, making the score 21 to 12. While the Bearcats were looking at the scoreboard and swearing under their breath, the visitors took a spurt and L. Craig, Bigsby, and Milstead counted, bringing their score up to 7, the closest they ever came to the fierce-fighting Bearcats.

Saturday night the Bearcats won their first game from Kirksville in two years of basketball. They have lost two years straight in football.

Springfield's victory over Warrensburg, 57 to 21, virtually eliminated Warrensburg from the race. Cape Girardeau is clearly out of the running, and between Maryville and Kirksville and Kirksville and Springfield are the ones that are being watched with interest.

Saturday night the Bearcats won their first game from Kirksville in two years of basketball. They have lost two years straight in football.

COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this our College by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals of our country and the College. We will reverence and obey the College laws and do our best to inculcate a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

Lois Thomas—60-hour graduate of this college is teaching at Globe, Arizona, for the second year and likes it very much.

Study Home Management

The class in Home Management has been studying the legal status of woman. This course is primarily a course in budgeting. So far the class has taken up the budgeting of the month, week and day. The value of energy saving conveniences has also been taken up.

Anti-Alcoholism Man Here

Ronald B. Swinford, representing the Student Department of the World League Against Alcoholism, spent Monday at the College. He visited various classes and talked with several students on the campus. From here Mr. Swinford went to Tarkio College. He is a graduate of Berea College.

Miss Bowman, instructor in English, met with her class in Tennyson, for the first time Friday night in Central public library at St. Joseph, Mo.

Other faculty members, including Miss Franklin, Mr. Withington, and Mr. Foster, will finish their extension work with two more meetings.

Buster Strong, a former student at this college and who is now attending school at Drake University, was awarded a swimming suit by the Drake coach for proficiency in swimming. He scored eight points for Drake in a recent swimming meet among several colleges.

Making Furniture

Members of the Industrial Arts Department are now working on some interesting projects. "Bill" Smith is making a beautiful six-piece bedroom suite consisting of twin beds, high boy, vanity dressing table, dresser and night stand. The suite is made of black walnut and is inlaid with holly wood.

Many Students Get "Shot" in the Arm

A free vaccination clinic was held at the health office in the gymnasium Thursday, February 16. The vaccinations were made through the County Health Office under Dr. C. C. P. Fryer. He was assisted by Dr. Green, head of the College health department.

The vaccinations were open to all students of the College and training school and a great number of them took advantage of the free services that were offered. One hundred and six students of the College and High school and twenty-two students of the training school were vaccinated. As this was more than expected the serum was used and approximately twenty-five did not receive the treatment. These people will be vaccinated Monday from four till five.

Line Up to Get Your Number Now for New Hall Rumble-seat

Did you ever go into a crowded barber shop to get a hair cut, a shave, or a neck clip and have handed you a little slip with a number on it to await your turn?

Or do you remember how the students line up on registration day to have their cards checked in the registrar's office?

All indications point to the possibility of a similar line forming sometime soon near the East entrance of the College.

This prediction is based on the fact that the boys in the Industrial Arts department are working on a "cozy sun-seated divan". According to the latest available information it is to be placed near the east entrance. This half-way rumble seat is about completed and will probably be set up within the next week. It is reported that the Student Council will be charged with policing duties to prevent any casualties in the couple-rush to initiate the new bench.

Alumnae Make Art Maps on History of Nodaway County

If you have some artistic ability and haven't lost your grade-school enjoyment for making maps, then you will be interested in one of the latest fads of making a map to adorn your walls. Mrs. Arthur Noid, formerly Alice Perry, B. S. '22, who majored in art and English, has made a map which not only makes an interesting object to hang on the wall but a valuable and historical thing to possess. This is a map of Nodaway County made to scale on parchment paper, painted in oil and framed.

The map is geographically and historically correct and shows the Nodaway county of olden times when Graham was known as Brownsville and instead of Arkoe a town by the name of Phelps was located near Bridgewater. It was artistically and originally illustrated. The routes followed by the stage coaches are shown and the one railroad which ran through Nodaway county then, the Burlington. The old mills, the ferry at Burlington Junction, and the Sixteen Mile House, an old brick building which is still standing, are also illustrated and the products of this county at that time, corn, coal, poultry, venison are pictured. The fact that Indians made their homes here is shown too.

Some especially interesting points in history and geography which Mrs. Noid has illustrated on her map are: the first church in Nodaway County, a Methodist one was built in 1840; the first bank was started in 1868; the county schools which ranked first in the state; places where the first court was held and first deed made; the highest point between the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers at Wilcox, and the only governor from this county, Governor Morehouse.

Mrs. Noid obtained her information from old histories and from Nathaniel Sisson who made the first map of Nodaway County.

Mrs. Noid's sister, Louise Peery, a former student, made a map similar and also a map of the Plymouth colony in the same way.

Y.W.C.A. Has Social Gathering Tuesday

There was a social gathering of the Y. W. in the girls' recreation room, Tuesday, Feb. 14.

A toast was given to the juniors for having won in the membership drive contest.

There was a general discussion on the question of World Fellowship in which every one took part making the discussion quite interesting.

Refreshments consisting of sweet-heart cakes and punch were served.

The Y. W. cabinet meeting was held Wednesday for the purpose of making plans for conducting meetings in the next three or four weeks. The world fellowship question will be discussed at this time. They also plan to have an alien speaker on the campus for one of the meetings.

As this is an important question much time and effort will be spent in making plans for these future meetings.

Miss Virginia White who has been Art Teacher in this department is now teaching in the elementary grades. Miss Haskall will continue her work.

He who has learned to obey will know how to command.—Solon.

Tarks Easy Again

Continuing their drive, the Bearcats trounced the Tarks five 48 to 27 at Tarkio Tuesday night. Incidentally it is the second time this season that the squad feels that the defeat administered during the football season has been by all means avenged.

Starting off with a burst of speed Paul Burks dribbled, passed, and shot circles around the Tarkio defense—not being stopped until he had contributed five field goals and nine free shots. Up until the time Hedges was taken from the contest on personals, he had registered four field goals—easily a good night's work. For the first time this season the "U" of the U-B-II trio failed to get into action. It is possible that Coach Lawrence was saving him for the conference tilts.

Of the eight men used every man broke into the scoring column with the exception of Johnson and Swinford. Iba was used at forward position and came through with two field goals.

Tarkio presented a better working offense than on their appearance on the Maryville court. Led by Mumford, hefty guard, they garnered nine field goals and nine free throws—eighteen point more drive than before. However they never loomed as a dangerous foe—half time ending with the College holding a 33 to 18 command.

High School Notes

Spickard High School

We have organized two societies to provide social and instructive amusements. One the Literary society has been organized with its constitution, by-laws and officers. Every two weeks a program is given consisting of the dramatic, oratorical, debating and musical phases of literary work. As there is talk of a Grundy County Literary meet we hope to be able to send more entrants to bring home the "bacon".

Our other society is a dramatic club organized to study various selections of literature, especially dramas. Work has been done in organizing this society's constitution but it is not quite completed. The club has studied Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet and the Merchant of Venice, and Goldsmith's, She Stoops to Conquer. Committees are considering and sending for material for dramatics.

The juniors have selected their play and are to begin practice in earnest.

Mercer High School

Mercer High School has been busy the past week preparing for the tournament but it was not in vain as our teams made a good showing. Mercer girls and junior high school teams were not able to win a place in the finals but our high school boys brought home a beautiful trophy. Our boys played hard and defeated both Princeton and Lineville by a high score. This will encourage them to work hard for a place in the finals at Trenton tournament February 24 and 25.

Princeton deserves much credit for a well arranged and nicely conducted tournament and the trophies were well worth playing for.

Look for the "HOODOO". Where? In Mercer, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 17 and 18 at the Mercer High School auditorium. This is a three act play with lots of fun. Come out and enjoy yourself.

Awards were made by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. for the essay contest and poster contest conducted in our school. Eugene Graham won first in high school, Nellie Mercer honorable mention. Mable Custer was first in the seventh and eighth grades. Margaret Moore first in the fifth and sixth grades and Nellie Ragan first in the third and fourth grades. This is especially good training for boys and girls both in essay work and in moral education.

A Valentine party was given Tuesday by the children of the primary department and the practice teachers. The room was decorated in red streamers, hearts and cupid. The blinds were pulled and the lights which were covered with shades made of hearts were turned on. The chairs were placed in a circle, with a table in the center. There was a fern on either end of the table and the Valentine box was in the center.

Refreshments consisting of brick ice cream and home made cake, cookies, and candy were served.

Mr. Phillips was guest of honor.

A member of Mrs. Price's methods class conducted a lesson on the rabbit last week. A real rabbit was brought into the room. The children were much interested in observing the rabbit eat and wash itself. Several new words were learned in connection with the lesson.

Lessons for the past week have been hinged around the study of Abraham Lincoln and St. Valentine. The new work is taking up the story of Washington, Betsy Ross and the flag. The

Alumni Notes

Emily L. Prugh, former S. T. C. student, is now teaching at Baggs, Wyoming. She has a good position and in a letter to Mr. Seaman says she is enjoying her work very much.

Helen L. Tebow, B. S. '24, is teaching mathematics this year in the Clarkson High School, Clarkson, Neb.

Mr. Phillips on Committee to Set Curricula

State Teachers Colleges, University of Missouri, and State Education Department Co-operate To Stabilize Requirements.

Mr. Phillips has been appointed temporary chairman of the state committee to prescribe minimum essentials for requirements of teachers in Missouri. This committee has been drawn up to represent the teachers colleges of Missouri, the University of Missouri and the State Department of Education.

Dr. C. A. Phillips of the school of education of the University, a brother of Mr. Phillips here, has been appointed a member of this committee to represent the University by Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University.

O. G. Sanford of the state department of public schools has been appointed by Superintendent Charles A. Lee to represent that department. Mr. Phillips was appointed by Roy Ellis, president of the Springfield State Teachers, who is also president of the college conference composed of the teachers colleges of Missouri. He will represent the teachers colleges in this work.

After first seeking to prescribe essential courses for the minimum teaching requirements in Missouri, the committee will endeavor to recommend a uniform nomenclature and content for the education courses in the state institutions of Missouri.

Mr. Lamkin pointed out that the work of the committee was not to tear up present curricula, but rather to stabilize them.

The committee is not expected to finish its work until early in the summer.

Miss De Luce Hears from Former Students

Claire Davis, B. S. '24, is Teaching in State Normal At Magnolia, Ark.—Iva Duke, B. S. '25 at Worland, Wyo.

Interesting letters have been received by Miss De Luce, from former students of the College. A letter from Claire Davis, who received her B. S. degree from this College a few years ago, and who is teaching in the State Normal School at Magnolia, Arkansas writes: "They have the queerest custom here of having fireworks Christmas Eve. The boys bought $5 worth of Roman candles, five-inch bombs and skyrockets and we had lots of fun."

"It has been lovely and warm here. Magnolia trees grow here that grow wild further south. The perfume is the sweetest I have ever experienced."

"At Madison where I taught before, I had forty-four children in the room, nine practice teachers and two hundred lesson plans a week. Here the work is much lighter. I am supervising the practice teachers now, seven boys and three girls. I have conferences each week for both primary and upper grade teachers. Next year they intend to add a Junior High School and have a regular upper-grade critic teacher. The primary and work class finished the first semester and the girls wanted to organize a club and do some more art work. There are fifteen members and several more to come. The Milwaukee Art Institute and the Layton School of Art are to sell exhibits of their work. We are going to organize a Normal Club here soon and the High School people want to do some work similar to that of the college class so I shall have enough outside work to keep me busy."

Iva Duke Writes

Another letter from Miss Iva Duke, B. S. in 1925, Art Supervisor in Worland, Wyoming: "We like all of the teachers both in High School and grades—they are pleasant and congenial, and one of them who lives here made my first Christmas away from home a most agreeable one."

"Perhaps you do not know that the Wyoming State Corn Show is held in Worland this spring. We shall have an art exhibit including work of the third, fourth, and fifth grades that I have supervision over, and from the sixth, seventh, and eighth that I have taught. I have had lots of fun in making out my courses for each grade and to my probably incompetent eyes the pupils seem to be doing work up to standard."

"This is a brief survey of what the pupils did for Christmas: A calendar with illustrated scenes in water colors in the seventh and eighth. A stick printed pen holder in the fourth. Christmas candy box in the third and a decorated holder in the fifth."

"I think Worland must be the highest in expense of any little town in the United States. Imagine paying $45 a week for board and room! I think I shall go to school this summer and work toward my Master's. Some of my friends accidentally saw some Christmas cards I made and have asked me to make some for sale for Mother's Day and Easter."

Over the Library Desk

Library news seems to be scarce this week. Any students of the College School who are interested in entering the oratorical contest being sponsored by the Kansas City Star will find material in the library from which they may write their oration. The subject is limited to certain phases of the study of the Constitution of the U. S. Three basketball games this week have naturally cut down the night crowds at the library, but who would study all the time?

Psychology Class Sees Good in Every Child

All Can Be Trained To Be A Good Citizen And Credit To Community Miss Franken Tells Class.

Every child can be trained to be a good citizen and a credit to the community in which he or she lives if the parents and teachers understand and apply the basic principles of psychology. Miss Katherine Franklin, instructor psychology told her class in child psychology Thursday morning.

"It is for this reason," said Miss Franklin, "that every teacher is required to take these courses. A person must understand the inside workings of the child in order to intelligently instruct him."

Miss Franklin has thirty-one students in her adolescence psychology class and forty-three in her child psychology class. These students have been trained to give tests to individuals from the time of birth to adulthood to ascertain the physical, mental, social disease history and the moral character of the person. Further than that measures for correcting any deficiencies which may be found are also given. In fact the entire personality, the accounting for conditions that are found and a prediction as to the ultimate outcome of the child may be found resulting from the training and education of the child, according to these tests."

"Heredity and environment are two of the most important factors entering into the life of an individual," said Miss Franklin, "and it is difficult to tell where one begins and the other leaves off. Both are closely interwoven into the person's life. But it is the understanding of these factors that makes us able to analyze an individual. When we know how children learn we are better able to teach them."

"Habits and sleep influence our lives to a greater extent than we realize. Fear, anger, sex, affection and jealousy are other factors which have a very important bearing on our future actions," stated Miss Franklin. "In fact, affection and jealousy largely determine one's personality. That is the reason that these things should be understood and directed in the right paths."

"Psychology is simply a scientific study of the child and is to be used by persons who are dealing with the child day in and day out just the same as any one must study electricity scientifically to become an expert. A great deal of progress has been made since psychology has been required in teaching, and it is hoped that greater advances may be made in the near future in this field." Miss Franklin concluded.

Crowd Enjoys Music of Hart House Quartet

Canadian Musicians Please Large Audience in Concert Thursday Night—Each an Artist With His Instrument.

Not in a long time has a better, or more favorably received concert been given at the College than the one played last Thursday night by the Hart House string quartet of Toronto, Canada. That a string quartet is the most perfect of ensembles in music was evinced both in the performance and in the attention on the part of the large audience.

The Hart House string quartet, composed of Geza de Kresz, first violin, Harry Adnskin, second violin, Milton Blackstone, viola, and Boris Hamborg, violoncello, proved that its members are true exponents of the art of chamber music. Their ensemble was a unity of phrasing, a unity of attacks and was interrupted by individual playing only when the composer called for a solo by a single instrument.

The outstanding musical effects were the pianissimo passages which are, as every musician knows, very difficult to obtain. There was some disappointment in the omission of the Mozart in G Major and even the substitution of a group of lighter numbers did not entirely satisfy those who would like to have heard Mozart.

The Schubert Quartet in D Minor was probably the finest of all numbers played. The first, in allegro movement was all that it should be, a brilliant introduction to the andante con moto which followed. This second movement was written around one of Schubert's well-known songs, "Death and the Maiden," and the melody was alternated throughout on each of the four instruments. The scherzo and presto were played as one movement in a very brilliant and rapid performance. The second group, a very modern composition, named "Poem" by John Beach, was a decided contrast to the wholesome Schubert. The viola opened with a slow melody on muted strings which later was accompanied by the other three instruments, also muted. Then the melody was taken up by the first violin and, later the cello. The harmonies were of the modern school throughout.

The third number was an, "Italian Serenade," by Hugo Wolf. It was light, fantastic, airy and full of pizzicato for all of the strings. Then followed a group of lighter numbers, the first an arrangement of, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," by Pochon. An old "Minuet" by Boccherini was next and the muted strings of the first violin carried the melody.

Whenever the first violin played the theme, Mr. de Kresz portrayed a clarity of tone that was unequalled. There was particular delicacy in the "Minuet." Percy Grainger's, "Molly on the Shore," was effective in a string ensemble.

The only encore given was a sketch of a French-Canadian folksong, arranged by Francis MacMillan. Undue haste on the part of some people in the audience probably prevented another encore being given.

Writing Dad for Cash Is Now a "Profession"

Chicago.—Writing letters home for money, long considered an art among college students, has been raised to the dignity of a profession. Three Northwestern university girls have opened the Northwestern Letter shop and plan to pay their way through college writing letters—for others. While the proprietors admitted they never wrote home for money themselves, receipts for the first few days have paid a month's rent, they said.

Do You Know "Shuck" Graham?

—What a foolish question that is, a student told us. You might as well ask, "Do you know Orville Hedges, or Paul Burks, or Ungles, or Harris, or some of the other Bearcats?"

Since you know this staunch old Bearcat of gridiron fame we want you to know that he has been chosen as our College representative.

He wants to take care of your clothing ills. And he knows that he has all of the resources and services of this modern plant to offer you. Just tell "Shuck" when your clothes need attention—and he will take care of them P. D. Q.

COMMANDMENT

Urges Revisions

But in spite of the fact of changed conditions the law has not changed in this respect and we find many cases being held in the courts by continuation merely at the wish of one side or the other. This results in crowded dockets.

Mr. Livengood also stated that in criminal cases, in which the state had wished to give the criminal every right to a just trial that it had gone a little too far and was too lenient in some respects. In a murder trial the state can challenge eight jurors while the defense can challenge twenty; in a long penitentiary sentence the state can challenge six and the defense twelve jurors; in a short penitentiary sentence the state can challenge four and the defense eight jurors. Only in cases of misdemeanors has the state an equal chance with the defense each having the right to challenge four jurors.

In the last few months, however, the speaker continued, the supreme court has denied appeals for technicalities. This will help in checking the congestion of the courts by cases which have been kept in the courts because of some slight error in the wording of the case.

Law procedure is hard to change because it takes an act of the legislature of the State of Missouri to make that change. It is hard to get the legislature to act because it takes an understanding of the law to make changes in the first place and in the second place the legislators are not paid enough to warrant them to take the time that is needed to make the necessary changes," Mr. Livengood stated.

The speaker said that if people would consult their lawyer before making an act or contract that the number of cases in the courts would be materially cut down. He stated that every day some lawyer would turn down a case because of insufficient evidence and that the code of ethics was so high in

Fix Your Own Grade, Is Wash. Innovation

Mr. Whitney's section of the Social Science 1B class, have decided to use a contract grading system. In this system the student contracts for a certain grade, and if he lives up to the requirements for this grade it is given to him, and if one student cares to do so and be proportionately rewarded.

This system has not been completely worked out but the class is working hard on it and hopes to have it ready for use immediately.—Ellensburg (Wash.) Campus Crier.
